BLOODLUST VARIATIONS

Here for the first time is the collected vampire fiction and poetry of C.J. Carter-Stephenson – six variations on the vampire theme, bound together by their protagonists' burning lust for blood.

A disembodied spirit fighting to be reunited with his vampiric body... Two vampires braving the wilderness of space in search of a new home... A vampire with no recollection of his mortal life...

All this and more you will find in these pages. Sometimes sensual, but always deadly, these dark denizens of the night are waiting to infiltrate your dreams. Drink deeply of their adventures and they will open your eyes to the darkness inside yourself, but be warned, there will be blood. For the blood is the life and they are always hungry for it.

ABOUT THE AUTHOR

C.J. Carter-Stephenson was born in the county of Essex in the United Kingdom and attended King Edward VI Grammar School from the ages of 11 to 18. In 1998, he graduated from De Montfort University with a BA (Hons) in English and Performing Arts, and in 1999, obtained a postgraduate diploma in Acting from the Academy of Live & Recorded Arts. He has had a children's novel and two plays published, and his work has appeared extensively in the small press.
